DEPARTMENT NEWS.

The Turiff of 1857.—The Secretary of the Treasury (on poeal) has affirmed the decision of the collector of customs at New York charging a duty of 19 per cent., in toms at New York charging a duty of 19 per cent, in place of 15 per cent, on japanned leather. The Secretary holds that the terms "patent," "japanned," and "glased," as applied to leather or skins, are believed to be eynonymous, and if, as the appellant would seem to contend, the article in question could, under the tariff act of 1846, be classed as "leather, upper, of all kinds," it must now be regarded in the tariff of 3d March, 1857, as transferred to schedule D, and made dutiable at the rate of 19 per cent., by force of the provision of the sec-ond section, of that act which transfers to schedule D "hapanned leather or skins of all kinds."

"hapanned leather or skins of all kinds."

The Secretary of the Treasury has also (on appeal) affirmed the decision of the collector of customs at New York, in charging a duty of eight per cent., instead of four per cent., on "watch movements," under schedule G in the tariff of 1816, as modified by the act of 1867. G in the tariff of 1846, as modified by the act of 1867. The importers contend that the "watch movements" have been transferred from schedule G, in the tariff of 1846, to schedule H, by force of the provision of the second section of the act of 3d March, 1857, which transfers to that schedule "watch materials and unfinished parts of watches." After delining the phrase "watch movements" to be the entire watch in running order, except the outer case and crystal, the Secretary holds that the tariff act of 1846 provided for "watches and parts of watches" and "watch materials" in schedule G. The second section of tariff act of 3d March, 1857, trans inished parts of watches." The designation in schedule 6 embraced "watches, watch materials, and parts of watches, 'finished and unfinished. 'Watch materials' and 'unfinished parts of watches' being transferred to schedule H, 'watches and parts of watches' other than 'unfinished parts' are still left in schedule G, liable to a luty of eight per cent.

"Watch movements" are neither "watch materials."
as that term is understood in the language of the trade, nor are they unfinished parts of watches; and do not fall within the provision of the second section of the act of 3d March, 1857, which transfers "watch materials and un-finished parts of watches" to schedule H. They must be regarded, therefore, as remaining in schedule G, subject to duty at the rate of 8 per cent.

The Secretary of the Treasury (on appeal) has over-ruled the decision of the collector of customs at Boston, in charging a duty of 8 per cent. on "watch hands and chain hooks," Instead of 4 per cent., on the ground that they are not "watch movements," but "watch ma-terials," and dutiable under schedule H.

Insperient to Marinera —Intelligence of an official character has been received by the Light-house Board that the captain superintendent of her Majesty's navy-yard at Gibraltar has given notice that a temporary colored light was placed, on the 25th of August last, at the outer exafte of the new works now in course of construction at the new mole in Gibraltar bay; and, in order that the temporary light may be distinguished from the fixed red light at the original mole head, it will show a green light to the north, a white light to the west, and a red light

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Seame Lends - Much difficulty has been entailed upon the department from cases arising under the swamp-land laws. It is not unfrequently that that department is called upon to answer letters of inquiry as to whether objec-tions could be entertained to the approval of lands before to the adjustment prior to 1857 on the mere ground that they were not swamp linds. In the circular of instruc-tions issued to the registers and receivers of the several local land offices, under the act of the 3d March, 1857, it is held that all unadjusted contested cases, so far as indi-vidual cases were concerned, are brought to a close; and, further, that objections could not be entertained to the approval of lands then before that office as selections under the swamp grant, on the ground that they were not lands of that character. It is further held, however, that parties who have made satilements with a view to pre-emp-tion entries were protected. This confirmatory act au-thorizes all parties who have made bona fide settlements under any existing law to prove up and enter the lands.

The Then of St. Marks, Florida. - Inquiries having been made at the General Land Office respecting the govern-ment reservation at St. Marks, Florida, the department, on the 27th of October, replied that the town was laid out into quarter-acre lots under the acts of Congress of 2d March 1833, and 30th June. 1834, respectively. These lots were twice offered at public sale, but, no sales hav ing been effected, they became subject to private entry at the minimum price of $25 each. Subsequently, a few of these town lots were entered at private sale by individwals, but a larger portion of them are still subject to private entry. Ten acres of the land embraced in this town, after survey, was granted to the Tallahassee and St. Marks Railroad Company, with the approval of President rvey not having been made with re-Jackson, but, the su gard to the original plan, the matter remains to this day without final action. In January, 1852, all the unsold lits lying south of Third street were reserved, by the order of the President, for the use of the Fort of St. Marks, and of course are not now under the control of the depart-Subsequently the State of Florida, through its suthorized agent, selected as swamp lands, under the act of 1850, all the unsold lots both north and south of Third street, but this selection was rejected by the General Land Office, and the decision sustained, on appeal, by the Secretary of the Interior. In view of all this, the title to no part of this town has passed to the State of lorida either for railroads or for any other purposes.

An Interesting Report. - The Commissioner of Indian Aflairs has received from Superintendent Haverty the annual report of Colonel A. H. Redfield, Indian agent for the Upper Missouri. The document is quite voluminous, containing detailed accounts of the condition of the Indians in that agency.

Colonel Redfield left St. Louis on the 31st of May, on visit to the Indians on the Missouri river. On the way he held a large number of councils with the different Indian tribes, distributing at the same time the annuities which had become due. Most of them expressed a desire to maintain peaceable relations with their white neighbors,

On the 1st of July Colonel Redfield reached the village of the Gros Ventres and Mandems. Formal councils were held with these nations in separate ledges. These Indians, like the Rickarees, live in permanent habitations, and cultivate corn, vines, and vegetables to a considerable extent. With proper assistance and instruction, Colonel Redfield believed that in a few years these In dians, together with the Yanctons and Rickarees, might make rapid progress towards civilization. It would be however, to protect them from the constant attacks and depredations of the wandering bands of the

These three distinct nations do not now number over 1,500 or 2,000, the small-pox having during the past year swept off fully one-fourth of their number. A few cars since the Mandems themselves numbered over 500 odges; now they cannot count over 40 or 50. The rav-

The practice of giving spirits to the In-dians has been fruitful of nothing but the murder of de-fenceless travellers and the depredations which have caused so much indignation against the Indian race.

Pre-emption Cleims Upon Lands Reserved for Railroad Pur-pose.—The Commissioner of the General Land Office has made the subjoined decision, which will be found of general interest:

"1. Pre-emption claims upon any lands withdrawn from market for railroad purposes, where the settlements were made in good faith with the government before the passage of the law making the grant, and prior to the definite location' or surveying and staking off of the route of the road, are subject to consummation within the period fixed by law for proving up and entering offered and unoffered lands at one ordinary minimum of $1.25 per acre, and payment may be made in specie or with military bounty-land warrants.

"3. From the date of the final allotment oforesaid till the date of offering the United States reserved sections at public sale, pre-emption rights to lands in such sections cannot attach; but offer the offering the reserved sections again become pre-emptible at a minimum of $2.50 per acre.

"4. When the $2.50 minimum attaches, bounty-land warrants, under the set of 3d March, 1855, cannot be used in part payment, there being an express inhibition of such use in the statuto; but warrants issued under prior acts of Congress may be so used.—see warrant only prior acts of Congress may be so used—one warrant only to be laid on a single pre-emption claim at the rate of $1.25 per acre, and the balence required to make up the $2.50 to be paid in specie."

The following, which we take from the Natio Democrat, seems to be intended as a counter statement to the proceedings of a recent meeting of citizens in Kunsas, whose proceedings we published in our paper of yesterday :

in our paper of yesterday:

"On the evening succeeding the proclamation against the Oxford enormities the opponents of that measure assembled a meeting here to denounce the governor. We were present on that occasion, as a mere spectator, with many ethers appearing in a similar capacity. We can truly state that the number who participated in the vote of condemnation did not exceed twenty, after all the drumming and preparation with which that mighty conclave was heralded. Yet this little squad, who have got into the Oxford omnibus, composed to a considerable extent of the participants or beneficiaries in that extraordinary transaction, assume to speak in the name of the democratic party.

action, assume to speak in the name of the democratic party.

"Of the twenty participants in these condemnatory proceedings, perhaps some half a dozen had been duped into the affair by absurd representations that Governor Walker see opposed to the convintion. Strange that so absurd a falsehood should obtain currency even with half a dozen men. In the governor's inaugural of May last, in his address on the tax qualification of September, and in his numerous public speeches everywhere throughout the Territory, he has uniformly advocated and sustained the convention, provided they would submit the constitution to the vote of the people; and this is now his position, as is known by every delegate or citizen who has chosen to converse with him."

What the Passons are at.—John Van Buren, in his speech at Tammany Hall, accounted for the falling off in the New England parson force as follows:

the New England parson force as follows:

"He wished to say one word to them in regard to the position assumed by Mr. Buchanan in his recent letter to the forty parsons. They recollected that last year there was an address to Congress by some three thousand parsons, and he was sure they would agree with him that it was a subject of congratulation that that number was now reduced to forty. [Laughter.] We had come down in the Kansas excitement from three thousand to forty. The Rev. Mr. Kalloch and two thousand nine hundred and fifty-nine other parsons seemed to have taken to other business than having charge of Kansas. [Laughter.] Forty men, in their address to President Buchanan, took him to task for the course he had seen fit to pursue in regard to Kansas affairs; and he replied to them in a letter which, though brief, was as conclusive and unanswerable, in his (Mr. Van Buren's) judgment, as any production that had fallen from any statesman during the present century."

Jonathan Wakefield, a soldier of the revolution, died in Newport, New Hampshire, on the 14th of October, in his 97th year. The Spectator says: "Mr. Wakefield was born in Sutton, Massachusetts, March 29, 1761, and removed to this town in 1779, where, with the exception of some years' absence in the revolutionary war, he has since resided. He was of the true revolutionary stock, his father having been killed by the British at Dorchester point in 1776. Mr. Wakefield has, through a long life, been strengly attached to democratic principles, which he sustained by his vote until he was unable from age and infirmity to attend the polls.

ter fired four balls from arevolver—two after Carter had fallen on the floor.

Carter was a middle-aged man, of a wealthy family. Smith is about thirty, and was laboring under great excitement when he committed the deed. It appears Carter had accused him of the sedaction of his ward or adopted daughter. Smith states that he met the girl at a boarding school and married her, but subsequently discovered that she had been the mistress of Carter, and had been delivered of a child four months after marriage. Smith was arrested, and is now awaiting a hearing at the mayor's office.

At a hearing before the mayor Smith claimed to be a travelling agent of a mercantile agency.
